What is CMA?

Certified Management Accountant (CMA) is a professional certification credential in the management accounting and financial management fields. The CMA is a U.S.-based, globally recognized certification offered by the Institute of Management Accountants. The certification signifies that the person possesses knowledge in the areas of financial planning, analysis, control, decision support, and professional ethics.

Why CMA?

- Earn a Higher Salary: Accountants with CMA designation tend to make more money than those without it. According to an IMA survey in 2021, the median compensation for CMAs was 58% higher than non-CMAs.
- Set Yourself Apart: CMA certification is one of the top designations a management accountant can earn. Many consider it the professional standard for management accounting. Earning a CMA verifies that you are an expert in accounting and financial management, giving you a leg up when searching for a job.
- Build Global Recognition: The CMA designation holds global recognition. CMAs can use their knowledge and skills outside of the United States, making it valuable for accountants who want to work abroad.

CMA WITH BCA international:

1. Read the Textbook

Your textbook is the core of the HOCK study program. It contains explanations of the concepts that you need to know and detailed examples for complicated topics.

2. Watch the Videos

The videos are streamed from the HOCK site and must be watched online. Note: Not every detail in the books is covered in the videos, so they cannot take the place of studying your textbook.

3. Answer the MCQs / Essays

Answering practice questions without studying the materials will not prepare you for the exam because the questions on the exam will be very different from the practice questions. Only studying and knowing the concepts will prepare you to answer the unfamiliar questions on the exam.

4. Review / Forum / Ask Questions

If you have questions after going through the materials, ask for help from our teachers in the Student Forum. You can also browse questions other students have asked and had answered.
